

Getting the Reps with: The Warriors' Steve Kerr

Understanding Teammates

Key Takeaways

- It's a healthy experience to learn about people who may not look and sound just like you.
- One of the best examples for him is playing and working alongside Black teammates for 40 years, and he's still learning.
- It's important to get to know people, understand why they're coming from and why they are who they are.
- We all need to develop the skills to communicate with all kinds of people, including other races and genders.

Things to Think About

- How can learning about someone else's perspective make you a better teammate or friend?
- What are some things that you wish other people knew about your own life?

Ways to Practice

- What's a responsibility you can commit to this week? Pick one for your sport and one outside of sports.
- What's one way you can help someone else take on their responsibilities this week?

